Tuesday – Social Engagement, Treatment and Prevention at all Life Stages

What public policy do we need to advance from a Health Promotion and Primary Prevention perspective to help people age well, remain independent, and allow them to live where and how they choose.	What kind of secondary prevention and medical healthcare services are necessary to support people as they age?	What kind of policies (public and other) do we need to ensure that when people need institutional care they receive care that allows them to live well and die with dignity?
